To Patients without Japanese Health Insurance

Patients without Japanese health insurance (such as expatriates who live overseas, etc.) generally require support from a medical coordinator to ensure safe medical practice when seeking medical attention at the National Center Hospital of Neurology and Psychiatry.

We collaborate with medical coordinators to help patients without Japanese health insurance, and our Patient Support Center proceeds with arrangements including making appointments to see a doctor together with a medical coordinator.

Therefore, those who seek medical attention at our hospital but do not have Japanese health insurance are required to first contact a medical coordinator. Refer to the following list of contracted coordinators.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation in our effort to provide safe and efficient medical consultation.
